Person-Centered Assessment

History

Director’s Release - VAP Rescission

• On January 15, 2016, DDSD rescinded the Vocational Assessment Profile (VAP) policy and procedure.

• Replaced with the requirement to have a Person-Centered Assessment.

• The provider agency is responsible for the quality of the assessment.
What Makes an Assessment Person-Centered?

- Involve the person, family members or other advocates.
- Detailed enough to provide accurate and complete information related to the person’s strengths and interests.
- Should not assume that the person has not changed (since last assessment) or cannot change in the future.
- Starts with the person—not with an assumption about services.
Person-Centered Assessment Requirements

- New people - within 90 days. (See Exception Below.)
- A new person-centered assessment should be completed at least every five years.
- If significant life changes, a new assessment will be required sooner.
- Person-centered assessments should be reviewed and updated annually. Changes to the updated assessment should be signed and dated in order to demonstrate that the assessment was reviewed.

Exception: PCA is NOT required for the CORE when the budget is an initial ISP, the individual is new to the service area or provider, the individual is 18 and is transitioning to the adult waiver, or a job is obtained before the assessment can be completed.

  - Individual’s Background and Current Status,
  - Individual’s Strengths,
  - Individual’s Interests,
  - Conditions for Success to Integrate into the Community, including Conditions for Job Success (as applicable),
  - and Support Needs for the individual.

- A person-centered assessment must include individual and/or family involvement.

- A career development plan should be in place for job seekers to outline the tasks needed to obtain employment and for those currently employed. Should be incorporated in the ISP as an Action Plan.
Individual’s Background and Current Status

• There are no minimum requirements about what should be included.

• PCA should include a little bit of history about the person and give the reader an idea about what is currently happening.

• This information can be incorporated anywhere in the assessment and does not need to be in a section labeled, “Background and Current Status.”
Individual’s Strengths

• There are no minimum requirements about what should be included.

• This information can be incorporated anywhere in the assessment and does not need to be in a section labeled, “Conditions for Success.”
Support Needs for the Individual

• The PCA should address the level of support needs will the agency need to provide.
